Maternal Health Community Implementation

The “3Merging Maternal and Child Health (MCH) Issues” proposed project will create a regional coalition to bring together the expertise of a community-academic partnership that will exponentially increase the capacity of our organizations to rapidly respond to the emerging MCH issue of maternal mortality and morbidity (3M) and meet the challenges facing our MCH populations.

Project Title: 3Merging MCH Issues (3M)

Requested Funding Amount: $250,000, HRSA/MCHB

The George Washington University Milken Institute School of Public Health (GWSPH) is applying for the HRSA/MCHB Emerging Issues in Maternal and Child Health Funding Opportunity Announcement HRSA-21-080. The proposed “3Merging Maternal and Child Health Issues (3M)” partnership project brings together the expertise of a community-academic partnership in the Washington D.C. Metropolitan region (DMV) that will exponentially increase the capacity of our organizations to rapidly respond to the persistent regional MCH issue of maternal mortality and morbidity (3M), and meet the challenges facing our MCH populations, particularly in a current/post-COVID-19 world. The 3M project falls under two synergistic capacity areas: 1) Strategic Partnerships and 2) Workforce Development. The strategic partnership will fill a significant gap by bringing together Departments of Health in the DMV to develop regional interventions and strategies versus the current approach which is siloed by geographic boundaries. The GWSPH and GW Center of Excellence in MCH (GW-CoE) is a vanguard in bringing together regional (D.C. and Maryland) Title V leaders, government agencies, and non-profit organizations to build a united coalition that is innovative and poised to meet the collective needs of our MCH population. Further, the proposed project will develop an infrastructure and capacity in the 12-month project period to ensure long term sustainability of this partnership to adapt to new and emerging MCH challenges. Brainstorming sessions hosted by the GW-CoE considered the life course perspective of MCH issues and all of the regional partners reached a consensus to address the “3M’s” of maternal mortality and morbidity with an emphasis on addressing racial and ethnic disparities and perinatal mental health. Through the development of our 3M partnership, we aim to increase the ability to not only address maternal mortality/morbidity but to increase our capacity to anticipate, prepare, and execute timely responses to emerging issues and to reduce their negative impact on MCH populations.

Gender Based Violence Prevention and Response

The proposed project focuses on the State Department’s GBV mission: 1) empower individuals, 2) strengthen communities, and 3) build networks. We will accomplish 1) through promoting girls’ identity as members of a generation committed to the Saleema ideals of remaining uncut and not marrying early. We will attain 2) by continuing to enlist and secure the support of key actors across all sectors of society. We will achieve 3) through an innovative social media video series in which we will bring Saleema Plus to life and build awareness and support for eliminating FGM/C and EFM by portraying the benefits of these changes to society.

Addressing Female Genital Mutilation and Cutting (FGM/C) in the DMV

A collaborative team from Milken Institute School of Public Health at the George Washington University (GW/GWSPH) Department of Prevention and Community Health, the Global Woman PEACE Foundation (GWPF), and the US End FGM/C Network (US) will engage in 36- month community collaborative approach to the systematic and efficient evaluation of the multimethod approach towards the secondary and primary prevention of FGM/C. This project will provide direct services to survivors of FGM/C, provide outreach to at-risk individuals and communities about FGM/C to increase identification of potential victims (young girls), and disseminate our results and evaluation to a multitude of audiences leveraging our virtual living online toolkit 'FGMToolkit.gwu.edu' we developed, tested, and evaluated. The living toolkit will be used in tandem with survivor-centric activities including survivor led support groups and responsive law enforcement, health, and educational systems trainings to create a complete package to assist in the secondary prevention of FGM/C and to be conversant with primary prevention efforts of FGM/C for girls living in the US who because of their birth may be at risk for having FGM/C (or related procedure) in the US or being at risk for being sent to another country ("grandmother trips") for FGM/C.
