BUILDING HIGHLIGHTS (OPENED SPRING 2014)
For the first time in its history, Milken Institute School of Public Health has its six academic departments and all programs and classrooms anchored at a single address in a state-of-the-art LEED Platinum space. The school building, located at 950 New Hampshire Ave, NW, on Washington Circle in Foggy Bottom, serves as a center for academic achievement, analysis and discussion and convenes public health leaders from around the world. The architects were Boston based, Payette Architects assisted by D.C. based associate architect, Ayers Saint Gross Architects and the contractor was Whiting Turner.
